

I am very passionate about learning. When I was offered the opportunity to become an Instructional Coach, I jumped at the chance. Having been a principal in the United States, I gained insight into how teachers teach and how to best assist teachers who may need guidance. My role is to not only work with teachers who need assistance, but any teacher who wishes to improve their craft. I believe in doing what is best for teachers to be successful. To quote Jim Knight, "It is important that every student receives excellent instruction, every day, in every class."

Over my 30 plus years as an educator, I have seen a lot of educators come and go. The teachers who stayed did so because they loved what they were doing in the classroom. I would like to be the person who assists teachers with "loving what they are doing". Anything I can do to assist teachers, have discussions, share my opinion, give guidance or even have a brief chat is within my job description and I am more than happy to help.

Looking forward to working with each of you,

Mary Beth
