

I am truly looking forward to working with all learners, student and adult, at BBS as a member of the Teaching and Learning Center! Throughout my career, I have become increasingly passionate about how teachers reflect upon and improve their practice.

I have taught at the high school level within the history/humanities field of courses in Kuwait, New York, NY, and Boston, MA. I have also served as Department Leader at BBS and 9th Grade Team Leader and Director of the Young Men's Initiative at the Urban Assembly School for Law and Justice in Brooklyn, NY.

I am fortunate enough to have participated in the United States' Department of State's Teachers for Global Classrooms (TGC) program to Ghana and received a fellowship from the National Endowment for the Humanities to complete curriculum research in South Africa.

I am excited to continue to support student learning and achievement within a collaborative setting!
